Subjects:

Presentation of the project, aims, objectives & partner organizations:

The Multiplier Event started smoothly, a little bit later than planned, as we were waiting for participants to come. Presentation of AMAKA, the project consortium, aims and objectives was the first phase of the Event. Participants had to be first informed with the context of the Event as well as the Erasmus+ funding framework in order to be able to follow the presentation of project activities (in the later phase of the Event).

Presentation of IO1 & IO4 Material:

Sample materials of IO1 and IO4 were presented to participants, as indicated in the schedule of the Multiplier Event. The materials were presented both theoretically and experientially, as some activities were tested in a non-formal education approach. Handouts of the sample activities of both IOs were distributed to participants and Power Point presentation was used so they can have a visual input and engage with those more effectively. During the experiential activities participants were open to discuss and reflect on the content, whereas others were more comfortable with the theoretical discussion of those. The facilitators though managed the process so everyone would participate to the extent he/she felt comfortable with.

Feedback zone, discussion & next steps of the project:

Adequate time was given to participants to share their thoughts about the project activities and tested materials. Their feedback was essential for AMAKA and for the actual testing and implementation of the project activities. The next steps of the project were also presented, the IOs following, materials to be developed as well as the plan to disseminate those in the next Multiplier Event for which they will be again invited to participate. Participants expressed their interest to be informed about the project progress and to have the materials which would be enriching for their work in the field.

Evaluation & participant sheets:

Adequate time was given to the logistics of the Event which included filling out the evaluation forms and participant sheets. Distribution of attendance certificates took place in order to reinforce participants for attending this and the next planned Events of the project. The evaluation report submitted to VSA reflects the feedback of participants and will be used to improve the project activities and the overall planning of the next Multiplier Event by AMAKA.
